

The Ideal Baking Powder is Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

For more than fifty years Cream of Tartar and Bicarbonate of Soda have been used for leavening purposes with sufficient flour added to preserve the strength of the powder unimpaired, and this with the addition of whites of eggs comprises this pure and wholesome leavening agent, that has been the standard for 40 years. In its use pure, wholesome and delicious food is always assured.

Makes cake and biscuit that retain their moisture, and while they are flaky and extremely light they are fine grained, not coarse and full of holes as made with ammonia baking powders, latter dries up quickly. Alum powders leave a bitter taste in the bread or cake.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder once used, always used.

Therapeutics of Asthma.

In a lecture on the therapeutics of asthma Professor Dieulafoy gives the points of his method, which consists at the beginning of the attack in painting the inside of the nostrils as high up as possible with a camel hair brush dipped in a solution of hydrochlorate of cocaine—1 in 20—or, if preferred, the solution may be sprayed into the nose and throat for four or five minutes at a time with a tablespoonful of the above solution; if this does not succeed the patient is to inhale from 6 to 12 drops of pyridine sprinkled on a handkerchief. The cocaine and the pyridine may be employed simultaneously.

When the attack is at its acme the following solution may be injected hypodermically: Ten centigrams hydrochlorate of morphia and 10 grams distilled water, of which half a syringe-full is to be injected; repeated in a quarter of an hour if necessary. The remedy par excellence for asthma, says Professor Dieulafoy, is the iodide of potassium, given in doses of from 20 to 30 grains daily, but beginning with 5 grains only, to be gradually increased. To combat the diathesis the patient should take from 15 to 30 grains iodide of potassium daily for 15 days, then replace the iodide by pills composed of powdered belladonna leaves and the extract of belladonna, of each 4 grains, made into 20 pills, the patient at the same time to take daily after the principal meal a teaspoonful of a solution of 1 grain arseniate soda and 2 1/2 fluid ounces distilled water.—Paris Letter.

Noiseless Carriages.

A large number of carriages of New York are now equipped with rubber tires nearly two inches thick and composed of many layers of rubber of various degrees of springiness. Carriages thus equipped are able to roll over the stones without the deafening clatter and jerkiness which results when iron tires are used. In the attention which people pay to their private stables New York is making rapid strides in an upward way.

There is more interest now taken in the horse show than there is in the opera, and the breeding and training of carriage horses has been taken up by enthusiastic millionaires without number. The assertion that we go to England for showy trappings for private stables is no longer true. American carriages have all taken prizes in European fairs, and the crack coaches in the Coaching club, as well as the most widely admired dog carts and broughams, are of native manufacture. They have taken up the American buggy in England and France, just as we have adopted the dog carts and tilbury here.—Cor. Richmond Times.

Table Manners.

A napkin is not intended to be used as a bib. The fashion of pinning it about one's neck is obsolete, and only permissible in the very young or those quite beyond the pale of middle age, who are unable to measure accurately the distance between the cup and the lip.

It is not polite for a hostess to press the guest to be helped "again." She should ignore the fact of the previous helping, and simply say, "Shall I help you to so and so?"

A habit of passing things at table savors too strongly of an acquaintance with the boarding house, this handing of dishes being the prerogative of the servant.—Jenness-Miller Magazine.

The casting out of the devil of disease was once a sign of authority.

Now we take a little more time about it and cast out devils by thousands—we do it by knowledge.

SPLIT STONES OF SAHARA.

A Scientific Explanation of the Notable Rocks of the Great Desert.

Those parts of the great desert of Sahara called the Hamadas, which are among the most desolate parts of the region, are strewn with innumerable silicious pebbles which are literally broken into thousands of fragments, presenting sharp edges and clearly defined angles, as though recently broken with a hammer. Sometimes fragments of these pebbles and boulders can be found lying together with their fractured sides facing each other, fitting perfectly when brought in contact. For two centuries the split stones of Sahara baffled the scientists, who were at a loss for an explanation of the phenomenon. At last the long looked for explanation has come.

M. J. Brun read an elaborate article before the Scientific Society of Geneva in which he stated and proved that the stones were actually split by a curious combination of chemical and mechanical actions. He found by analysis that the sand of the desert was composed of quartz, gypsum and marl, with traces of salt. The quartz grains acted under the influence of the sun's rays as burning lenses upon the gypsum, rendering it hydrous. The sand and fine anhydrous gypsum dust are driven about by the winds and cover all the stones, large and small; the dust penetrates the little cracks in the stones, whereupon it is wet by the dews, which causes it to swell. With continuous accessions of gypsum and repeated heavy dews the accumulation of plaster goes on increasing, the cracks enlarge, and in time the stones split asunder.

Jenckyns, whose "Tryp to Ye Burning Sandes of Africk" is among the oldest English narratives of adventures in the great desert, also noticed the split-stone phenomenon. Translated into modern English his account, under heading of "Another of God's Wonders," is as follows: "From the river we traveled nine days due west over the same monotonous stretch of sand and pebbles. The natives of these parts say that it once rained small stones for eleven days and nights, covering many towns and much fertile ground; that afterward the witches came riding jackals, and that they pounded the pebbles with white flint mallets or small mauls until they became sand.

"Even now the heat draws out pebbles from underneath the sand, but these lie but a short time on the surface until they, too, are pulverized by the creatures of the night (witches). I myself have seen wagon loads of fractured boulders far out in the desert that must have been broken by some other than human agency." The 1890 explanations of Brun will doubtless find more believers than that of Jenckyns, which was given in 1548.—St. Louis Republic.

When the Court Changed Its Mind

Mrs. Cornelia M. Stewart, widow of the millionaire A. T. Stewart, was the successful defendant in a notable negligence case in which the court of appeals reversed its own decision. There was a man named Thomas H. Stringham working for Mrs. Stewart on the farm at Garden City in September, 1879, and both of his legs were fractured, the right leg in two places, and one arm was bruised by the fall of an elevator in the farm storehouse. On the first trial the case was dismissed at the end of the plaintiff's story.

Then the plaintiff carried it to the court of appeals, where it was held that there was a question for the jury, and the case was sent back for trial. The trial occupied three days, in January, 1886, and the result was that the plaintiff got a verdict for $42,500. Then the defendant, through Asa Bird Gardner, appealed to the court of appeals, which reversed its own decision, and held that the case should be dismissed.—Interview in New York Sun.

Sir Arthur Sullivan Snubbed.

The following story is told of Sir Arthur Sullivan. Some little time ago, when a change in the cast had been made, Sir Arthur, who happened to be dining at the Savoy hotel, slipped away for a few minutes from the table, and went into the theatre to the upper circle, there to hear and judge for himself the capabilities of the new artists.

As the play proceeded, and a favorite score in the opera was taken, the talented composer unconsciously commenced to hum the refrain as he desired it to be rendered. This considerately annoyed his next door neighbor, who abruptly remarked:

"Excuse me, sir, if I mention the fact that I have paid my money to hear Sir Arthur Sullivan's charming opera as given by the company, and not your confounded humming!"

Sir Arthur returned to his dinner, and related the incident with great gusto.—Pittsburg Press.

A Cheerful Prospect.

Old Groups—If you want to marry my daughter, young man, you must first get your life insured in her favor. Enamored Youth—Certainly, certainly, sir. Which company would you recommend?

Old Groups—Well, I think it better be the Pay All Claims company. They allow suicide.—New York Weekly.

The school authorities in Hungary recently procured a legislative enactment making the study of the ancient Greek language optional in grammar schools. The result has been a great surprise, for only two lads have requested to be exempted from the study of Greek.

SAFETY IN THE MIDST OF DANGER.

This would seem a contradiction—is so, in fact, to the eye. But experience has proved its possibility. Take the case of the individual who dwells in a malarious region. A robust constitution is no certain defense against the dreaded chills. What is? Recorded testimony, covering a period little short of half a century, proves that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this. This continent does not limit the field where the medicine has proved its efficacy. In South America, the isthmus of Panama, Mexico, everywhere in fact where miasma-born disease takes on its most obstinate and formidable types, the Bitters is a recognized specific in unlimited demand and prescribed by physicians of repute. Potted, too, is it in disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, and against that destroyer, grippa. It improves appetite and sleep, neutralizes rheumatism and kidney complaints.

HIS PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

L. T. Harrington, ex-Sheriff of Chautauqua county, New York, writes: "I am glad to say from a long personal experience with ALLCOCK'S PLEASANT PLASTER that I am able to endorse all the good things that have ever been said about them and supplement these by saying that I frankly believe their value cannot be estimated. Their breadth of usefulness is unlimited, and for prompt and sure relief to almost every ailment that flesh is heir to, no other remedy in my opinion, either external or internal, equals them in certainty and rapidity. I have used them at one time for rheumatism, another for backache, again for bronchitis, always with the same result—a speedy cure."

Use Enameline Stove Polish: no dust, no smell.

TRY GEMMA for breakfast.

A feeling of dullness, languor, and depression means that your liver isn't doing its part. That means impure blood, to begin with, and all kinds of ailments in the end.

But you can stop them in advance. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, and rouses every organ into healthy action. It prevents and cures all diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scurf), in its earlier stages, all yield to it.

The makers of the "Discovery" claim for it only what it will do. They guarantee that it will do it. If it fails to benefit or cure, in any case, they'll return the money. Nothing else that claims to purify the blood is sold in this way; which proves, no matter what dealers may offer, that nothing else can be "just as good." Therefore, don't accept a substitute.
